

I am appalled by Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election. I always thought the media, especially those which use the public airways FREE OF CHARGE, had an obligation to separate political electioneering from regular programming. This clear example of the dangers of media consolidation cannot be overlooked. The public interest must be protected. That's your job, FCC.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank You
